

ABSTRACT

A confocal three dimensional inspection system, and process for use
5 thereof, allows for inspecting of bumps and other three dimensional (3D) features on wafers and other semiconductor substrates. The sensor eliminates out of focus light using a confocal principal to improve depth response.